

Bud Morris

Marie Hammond

CONSIDER HIM

contrasts

Your ho-ly feet, Lord Je- - -sus, Left hea-ven's streets of gold. To Your re-gal head, Lord Je- - -sus, Re-lin-quished hea-ven's crown. Yet You made us in Your im- - -age, And breathed our life with-in; You Sin ban-nished us from Ee- - -den, Where God com-muned with men. Through walk a hum-ble path- - -way Of mis-er-y and cold. You earth would not af-fo-rd You A place to lay it down. If took a hu-man bo- - -dy And came to bear our sin. Men Your pro-pi-ti-a- - -tion We can draw near a-gain. Though trudged earth's dus-ty hi- - -ways As God and man com-plete. You thorns were made for Ad- - -am, And Ad-am's off-spring now, You scourged that hum-ble bo- - -dy, And nailed it to a tree; They God in right-eous judge- - -ment For-sook You from His face, Your served Your own cre- -a- - -tion, And washed their wea-ry feet. took our curse up- - -on You And wore them on Your brow. jeered and spit up- - -on You, And mocked Your ag-on-y. blood se- cures our wel- - -come With-in the Ho-ly Place.

Consider Him

Your gentle hands, Lord Jesus, With healing in their touch, Were When sweat and tears and to- il Be- came the hu- man race, You They placed a sign ab- ove You Re- ject- ing You as king- The O pre- cious, ho- ly Sav- iour, We'll gaze in heaven a- bove With cal- loused by the la- - -bor Of fall- en man as such. Those cast Your lot am- -ong- - us In mon- u- men- tal grace. Your on- ly ac- cu- sa- - -tion Their scru- ti- ny could bring. You ear- nest ad- or a- - -tion Up- on Your wounds of love. The hands that touched the lep- er, And loosed the bonds of sin, Were ho- ly soul, Lord Je- sus, As- sumed our guilt and fears; Your took the grim in- dict- ment Of our e- tern- al loss, The scars of our per- ver- sion Have van- ished with Your pain. But pierced for the trans- gress- ions Of those You came to win an- guish ov- er- flow- ing In blood- y sweat and tears. list of sins ag- ainst us, And nailed it to Your cross.

 You'll re- main for- ev- er The "Lamb for sin- ners slain."